

ANNUAL REPORT

FY

From our Director

Reach for Recovery Community,

As we reflect on the past year at Reach for Recovery, we are immensely grateful for the growth and progress we have experienced. Our dedicated team has worked tirelessly to support individuals at every stage of their sobriety journey, and none of this would have been possible without your steadfast support.

Fiscal year 2023 (October 2022 - September 2023) was a milestone for us, marked by essential updates to our facilities and the acquisition of a new transportation van. These improvements have significantly enhanced our ability to serve our clients effectively. Looking ahead, we are focused on continued growth in several key areas, and we value your ongoing partnership as we strive to meet individuals wherever they are in their treatment journey.

- Our team is reaching out to the community to conduct assessments, streamlining access to treatment for those who need it.
- Our walk-in assessments, available every day from 8 am to 4 pm, have enabled individuals to access treatment within 48-72 hours, a crucial step in their recovery process.
- We are investing in residential treatment to broaden our impact.
- Recognizing the importance of medication-assisted treatment, we are bolstering our clinical team to provide comprehensive mental health and substance use disorder medication support to our clients.

These enhancements align with our commitment to personalized, effective care for each individual we serve. By focusing on improving our internal processes, we have increased our capacity to serve more clients this year. I am deeply thankful for the journey Reach for Recovery has embarked upon, and I am excited to be part of this visionary team dedicated to supporting individuals in their pursuit of recovery. Your unwavering support has been instrumental in our ability to help those in our community access vital treatment services.

Thank you for your continued partnership and belief in our mission.

Residential

Chester A. Ray Center and Harbor House are the residential treatment facilities at Reach for Recovery. Residential treatment is a space where individuals pursuing sobriety are fully immersed in treatment. They live together, eat together, and participate in therapy, recovery meetings, and support services for 30, 60, or 90 days.

Brandy shares her story of finding hope in recovery at Harbor House. She credits receiving treatment with giving her the opportunity to raise her baby and providing her with the supplies for success.

“ I lost my mom, dad, brother, and sister to drugs and alcohol- which led me to pick up drugs and alcohol. I didn't know how to address my problems and trauma. I needed treatment, but refused to accept the fact that I had a problem with substance use and was struggling with my mental health. Chester Ray challenged me to open up and talk about my trauma. This is where I found true sobriety. I have a good group of friends who are keeping me accountable, meetings, a trauma therapist, and medication for my mental health. I am truly thankful for having sobriety today, and I never want to look back.

Specialty Populations

There are groups of people that experience additional barriers when accessing treatment. Reach for Recovery provides outreach to populations who are disproportionately impacted by substance use, so that we can meet people wherever they are in their treatment journey.

Incarceration

The National Institute on Drug Abuse reports that over 65% of individuals who are incarcerated meet the criteria for a substance use disorder. Individuals are at a much higher risk of overdose death in the weeks following their release. Reach for Recovery partners with Recovery Court and Community Mental Health to provide services to individuals upon release.

31% of client referrals were from the court system or an attorney in FY 2023.

Minorities

Research demonstrates that minorities experience additional barriers when accessing treatment. MDHHS recently reported that black residents in Michigan are dying of overdose at 2.7X the rate of white residents.

Parenting

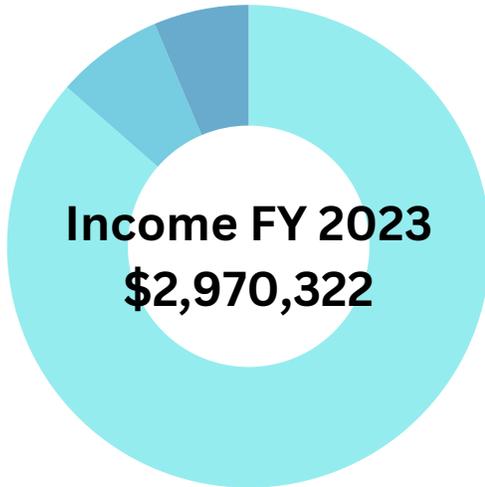

Harbor House is the only treatment facility in West Michigan that allows for women with an infant under age 1 to remain their care during treatment.

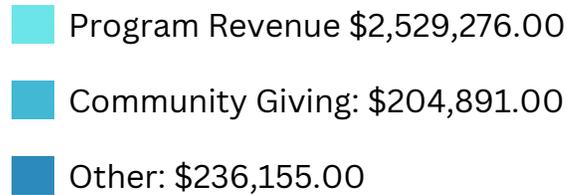

Primary caregivers experience additional challenges in accessing treatment since a child is in their care. The state of Michigan provides specialty funding for this population to increase access to treatment.
